No Grades? Check That Glove Compartment for Old Tickets

By Gary Swanson.

Have you been checking the mailbox with an air of eager anticipation with hopes that somewhere in the day's mail will be that little slip of paper that tells you what you have or haven't done in classes the past 16 weeks?

If you have, and all your efforts and hopes have been in vain, then you might be one of the approximately 100 students whose grades have been held for one reason or another. All students should have received a copy of their grades by mail within two weeks of the last exam date, January 27.

Pay That Ticket?

Miss Alice Smith of the registrar's office said that students who didn't receive their grades had some sort of business to clear up with the University.

This might be in the form of a library fine due on a book borrowed last September or that parking ticket put in the glove compartment and forgotten.

If neither of these sound familiar, you might check to see if you have a receipt for that loan for tuition payments.

Are You All Here?

Then there's the possibility that the Registrar is holding your grades because of incomplete admission to the University. This could include no picture for your application or transcripts from other schools may not have been sent to O.U.

In the case of bootstrappers, it's possible you neglected to give your Omaha address to the University when you registered and since have forgotten to stop in at the Registrar and report it.

Whatever it might be, if you haven't received your grades by Monday, February 13, you had better stop at the Registrar's office.

I. E. Degree Stirs Industry's Interest

Industrial engineering will officially come of age at OU this June when the first of the new degrees will be conferred.

Instituted last fall under the leadership of Dean Carl W. Helmstadter of the College of Applied Arts, the program has been actively followed by Omaha's various industrial organizations.

Representatives from several local firms met with President Bail and members of the engineering faculty last week to discuss progress and plans for the new program.

Of primary concern, Dean Helmstadter said, is the University's quest for accreditation from the National Engineering Council for Professional Development.

Because of the requirement demanding "a group of graduates established in the field sufficiently long to make a mark for themselves," the rating may take as long as five years to attain, the dean pointed out.

Other requisites include: high standards of instruction in the related departments of science, mathematics, industrial psychology and business management; library facilities; an engineering faculty with advanced degrees, professional degrees or equivalent experience, and adequate laboratory and classroom facilities.

Mid-Year Graduation Shows Bootstrapper Strength at OU

Bootstrappers stole the show at the mid-year commencement exercises Jan. 28. Of the 322 degrees conferred, nearly two-thirds went to the career military personnel.

It was the first winter graduation ceremony since the years immediately following World War II.

Graduated "cum laude" were Mrs. Mary Muehlig, Bachelor of Science in Nursing, and Harry E. Milkleson, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Only Three Years Needed

Mrs. Susan Fargher was graduated "with distinction in speech." She earned her bachelor's degree in secondary education.

Both Mrs. Muehlig and Mrs. Fargher finished their education in three years.

Play Runs Tonight And Saturday 8:30

The ever-popular story of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Fuller and their built-up-torn-down farm was portrayed by the O.U. drama department last night.

"George Washington Slept Here," featuring Carol Robinson and Rodi Ross as the Newtons, will be presented again tonight and Saturday night in the auditorium.

The play, by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, tells of a New York couple turned farmers and the doubtful help they receive from the hired hand, Mr. Kimber, played by Tom Hicks.

Curtain time is 8:30 p. m.

Nebraska Wesleyan University, issued a warning against mediocrity, citing the "new scientific and technological era we are now entering" in his commencement address.

The popular speaker from Lincoln cautioned that "we must learn to live together or perish together."

Degrees Pass 6000

"Optimism that never surrenders, sincerity, patience and courage" were listed as the traits of the educated man by President Milo Bail in his charge to the class.

He noted that more than six thousand degrees have been conferred at OU since he became president in 1948.

Other appearing on the program were Robert Schropp, president of the Alumni Association, and the Rev. Benjamin F. Schwartz, pastor of the Franciscan Park Methodist Church.

Yelkin States Position—

Grant-in-Aid Money Sought; 'Not Meeting Competition'

Vogt . . . Rensie.

Yelkin . . . "Expensive."

Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin Tuesday told the Student Activities Committee that he feels the athletic program currently functioning at Omaha University "is the best program for this university and it is doing a good job."

"However," he added, "we are not meeting our competition."

He further stated: "We would be the first to agree that a study would be beneficial—if it will result in improvement and progress for the department."

Yelkin cited grant-in-aid programs as limiting factors for all universities in recruiting outstanding athletes.

He pointed out that the budget for the athletic department this year is $76,798. Of that amount $16,491 is allocated to recruiting and grant-in-aid programs. He recommended a $3,500 increase in grant-in-aid allocations. Yelkin asserted that other universities spend more money in this area than OU, yet they are of comparable size.

According to statistics produced by Yelkin and gathered by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, athletic departments of other universities comparable to OU work with an average budget of $146,000.

Salaries for 14 members of the athletic department are approximately $41,000. Nine of the 14 double as coaches and faculty members, Yelkin declared.

He said that approximately $33,991 is being spent on football. This figure differs sharply with an earlier figure of $30,000 cited by President Milo Bail.

It was further emphasized by Yelkin that his department provides eight sports to all male students in the university, none of which is given priority over another. Approximately 165 students participate in these eight programs.

In supporting Mr. Yelkin's position, faculty representative of athletics, Stanley Trickett, said: "I hope and pray you will not be stampeded into an easy decision." He told the committee its recommendations may well be "crucial."

In view of football's deficit spending, Trickett declared: "No activity should be dependent upon gate receipts!"

Philip Vogt, Chairman of the athletics division of the committee, moderated the discussion.

Football is slated to be the discussion topic at the next session of the Activities Committee next Tuesday.

Last Week—Music

At the first two meetings of the committee the ground rules for the investigations were formulated. The group was cautioned by President Bail to be objective but thorough in its job.

The third meeting of the group dealt with the Music Department.

Department head Dr. James Peterson, stood before the committee and declared that his music department performs a great service, "not only to the school, but also to the community."

Dr. Peterson also pointed out that he sees no reason why Omaha cannot be the cultural center of the Midwest.

Band Director Jack Malik said that his selection of music had to be limited due to an inadequate budget. He went on to say that his department could function much better in many ways if the current budget was expanded about three times.

Vocal music instructor Melvin Olson said that everyone should be encouraged to use his voice.

"Talent is everywhere," he concluded, "and we have the obligation to seek rather than be sought."

Entry Problem Is TV 'Panic'

Current and future problems of college admission, a "panic" according to some officials, will be examined on a network television program this Sunday.

"The Twentieth Century," a CBS production seen weekly at 5:30 p.m. on Channel 6, will delve into the subject during its presentation entitled "The College Panic."

Among those airing their views will be Vance Packard, author of the best-seller, "The Hidden Persuaders," "The Status Seekers" and "The Waste Makers."

Edward S. Noyes, acting president of the College Entrance Examination Board, and Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger, New Jersey State Commissioner of Education, will also be featured.

CBS News Correspondent Walter Cronkite will narrate the show, filmed at a meeting of college admission officers and high school guidance counselors in Pittsburgh, Pa. Other scenes were shot at Upper Darby (Pa.) Senior High School.

No Such Thing As Ten-Minute Rule

Contrary to a popular student belief, there is no official policy regarding an "automatic dismissal" if instructors fail to arrive at class time.

Dean of Students Donald Pfisterer said the question should be decided by each individual instructor and class.

He squelched the widespread and long-thought rumor that students were, by rule, free to assume that an instructor was absent should he not arrive within 10 minutes after class time.

At the same time he pointed out that no set time has been designated before which a student must arrive in order to be marked tardy instead of absent.

Though stressing that these periods should be "reasonable," he placed the responsibility of setting them "completely with the instructor."

University rules state that students must attend all classes but Dean Pfisterer added that flexibility is allowed instructors in this respect.

Book Supply Diminishes

The unexpectedly large enrollment in junior and senior English, history and economics courses has created many problems for the bookstore this semester.

Ben Koenig, manager, said that the problem is not serious. Students in survey courses are not having any trouble. He said that he was doing everything possible to replenish the supply.

Official Notices

All students with a health rating of "B" are to report to the Student Health office for a re-check as soon as possible. Dr. MacKardle will be in the office between 8 and 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Polio vaccine is available in the Student Health office. A fee of one dollar must first be paid at the business office and the receipt presented before a shot will be administered.

The Spanish Club will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. in room 312 of the Student Center. Casper Offutt will speak and a vice president will be elected.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be on campus March 2. Students under 21 must have their parents' permission to donate blood.

Council Is Pushing TV Program Also

The University of Omaha Student Council Tuesday endorsed a student-organized proposal to return to the air "College News Conference," a televised program in which college students direct questions to noted political and educational leaders.

The American Broadcasting Company dropped the Sunday afternoon broadcast last fall after eight and one-half years on TV and radio.

A local petition for Omaha University student signatures was called for in the Council's resolution.

National presidents and chairmen of eight student organizations formed the committee which seeks a nationwide goal of one million signatures in an effort to return the show.

The Council also discussed organization of a committee of campus group representatives to aid this year's campus blood drive.

Freshman Nurses Capped Tonight

Omaha University's 54 Nebraska Methodist freshman nursing student affiliates will receive their caps tonight during ceremonies at First Methodist Church.

This is the first freshmen Methodist nursing class in many years in which all members passed both University and Methodist Hospital requirements to receive their caps.

Dr. Robert Naylor, First Methodist minister, and Rev. Charles Funk, Chaplain at Nebraska Methodist Hospital, will preside at the capping exercises.

Beyond 30

Committee Has No Easy Road to Hoe

By Ken Zimmerman

Football went on trial Tuesday afternoon.

Opening statements were heard, there was some cross-examination, then the president's activities study committee adjourned until next Tuesday.

Though intercollegiate athletics as a whole were being investigated this week, the terms "football player" and "athlete" were being interchanged quite freely.

Mr. Yelkin's carefully-prepared dissertation systematically outlined the workings and problems of his department. He covered all phases but here again the emphasis was on football.

I don't know what the committee thought or concluded following the meeting but I got the impression that, rather than overspending, the University of Omaha has been minimizing.

It sounded like the old champagne appetite on a beer budget.

This idea was conveyed through the use of some rather convincing statistics which Mr. Yelkin presented. He lined the University up with schools of comparable size and found us pretty short when it came to athletic department spending.

Taking an obviously defensive position, the athletic director made it clear that he did not agree with some statements made recently by Dr. Ball.

Most pointed of his countercharges was the football spending break-down presented as a denial of the 50-thousand dollar figure cited by the president.

Yelkin not only fought a reduction, he even came out and asked for an increase (in the grants-in-aid program).

The picture which he painted, I'm sure, was shaded in his direction. But it cannot be ignored.

Faculty Advisor Trickett charged the committee not to be "stampeded into an easy decision."

In light of the publicity this study has received and the apparent weight its conclusions will bear, Dr. Trickett, I can't conceive of any decision by this assembled body as being "easy."

Alum Association Begins '61 Talks

"The Right to Speak—Use It," by Dr. Aldrich Paul, will be the first in the 1961 series of Great Professor lectures presented by the OU Alumni Association. The program will be held Monday, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p. m. in the Student Center lounge.

Dr. Paul is head of OU's speech department, and has participated in many organizations. He is the past president of the Greater Omaha Radio-TV Council, and is now president of the American Council for Better Broadcasting. He is a member of the Speech Association of America and of the American Educational Theater Association.

Immigration Rule Leads O.U. Prof. To Languages

By Bill Vogt

Due to a U.S. rule on immigration, David P. Moore, a new assistant professor in OU's department of foreign languages, became interested in the German language while doing advance study in psychology.

Moore left the U.S. with a pre-med degree from the University of Illinois in 1949, and began his studies at the University of Heidelberg, where he met and married a German girl who was studying English.

A 1950 restriction on aliens prevented his wife from entering the U.S.

"My wife was very upset when her visa was refused," Moore said. "I didn't want to leave her, so I postponed my return. I lived apart from other Americans and spoke nothing but German."

Moore became so accustomed to speaking German that when he met a friend from the States, he found his English a bit rusty from disuse.

"Language has always been easiest for me," he said. "In addition to German, I have studied Spanish, and am now taking a French literature course at OU. When I realized I would have to postpone my return, in order to be with my wife, I went to the University of Amsterdam in Holland, and specialized in German."

When his wife was able to return with him in 1951, Moore attended the University of Iowa, where he received his masters degree in German in 1953.

After teaching high school for three years in Montana he moved to Arkansas where he taught full-time and began work on a doctorate at John Brown University before coming to OU.

Moore, a native of Dixon, Ill., served with the Army occupation forces in Korea from 1945-47. He plans to take his doctorate examination this summer.

Orchesis will play hosts to all junior high school students interested in dance at an Orchesis Dance Clinic on Saturday, February 18th from 9 to 12 at the P.E. hut.

Orchesis have also started work on their concert to be presented April 21st-22nd.

Former OU Student Combines Talent, Pleasure, Returns to OU As Instructor

A newly appointed instructor of journalism, Donald E. Kemp, has gone from student to full-time instructor in two years.

Kemp, a 1959 OU graduate, said, "I chose journalism as a career because it gives me a chance to meet people and to occasionally get involved in controversy. I like controversy—it's stimulating."

Last semester, in addition to acting as a part-time journalism instructor, Kemp worked nights and weekends for the World-Herald as a copy editor, police reporter and makeup man. "I enjoyed teaching," he said, "so I quit my job at the Herald to teach full-time. It gave me a chance to continue my education, and I like working with students."

Before going to the Herald, Kemp spent eight months as the entire news staff of a weekly paper in Ida Grove, Ia.

"I gathered and wrote news and sports, did page makeup, sold advertising and, oh yes, I also swept the floor at night," Kemp said.

"You can't get anywhere on a weekly paper," he continued, "unless you sell a lot of advertising. I didn't like selling, so I went to work at the Herald."

While a student at OU, Kemp was Gateway sports editor, and worked for KMTV on a student internship.

In addition to teaching courses in editing, advertising, and news-writing, he is now working towards a masters degree in socology, and is editing the College of Adult Education News-paper.

His wife, a 1957 OU graduate, does public relations work for the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

Valentine Legend Inspires Romantic Hopes for Feb. 14

By Pam Stronberg

The origin of the celebration held on February 14 is attributed to a man by the name of Valentine, who, while imprisoned, sent cards to his friends on that day. Later he was declared a saint and the day named in his honor, St. Valentine's Day.

If this legend is accurate, why is it the girl who romantically hopes for a dozen long-stemmed red roses and receives a humorously uncomplimentary contemporary card from her more practical-minded and broke boyfriend. With a little prodding perhaps he will give her a box of candy with the comment "Happy Valentine's Day, Chubby." He usually has a motive behind this statement; he wants the candy.

Children eagerly anticipate February 14 so they can materially judge their popularity by the number of cards they receive; women look forward to that day so they can be assured of true love and admiration and a gift to brag about the next day; and men remember Valentine's Day, if reminded.

It would seem, from all indications then, that this symbolic day of hearts was begun by an idealistic young lady who realized how its popularity would increase among members of her sex and eventually be implanted as an unescapable tradition in the minds of the opposite sex.

Track Squad Hosts Three-Team Meet

Omaha University's indoor track team will meet Simpson College and Morningside in a triangular in the OU fieldhouse Thursday evening. Field events will begin at 7:00 and running events at 7:30.

Last Friday, the Indians came out second best in a three team meet with Emporia State and Doane College. Emporia finished on top with a team total of 75 2/3 points; OU was second with 34 and Doane last with 19 1/3.

New Records Set

Roger Sayers and Jim Foster set new records, but the team effort fell short.

Freshman Sayers set his new record in the 60-yard dash, a speedy 6.1 seconds. He also won the 60-yard low hurdles, anchored the winning mile relay team and came within one-tenth of a second of the OU 440-yard dash standard.

Foster broke the fieldhouse record in the broad jump by over three inches but only tied for first place in the event. Noel Certain of Emporia equaled Foster's distance, 22 ft. 1 1/4 in.

Foster also ran on the mile relay team and placed fourth in the high jump.

Lacks Depth

Coach Lloyd Cardwell said he felt that the team did well in the first meet. "We have fine individual performers but lack over-all team depth." He said the shotput, high hurdles and distance events are the weakest points.

Three basketball players are expected to bolster the track squad after the roundball season is finished. They are Dave Hagglund, freshman high jumper, Bruce Hunter and Marv Bratka. Hagglund won the Nebraska high school high jump crown for the past two seasons. He has jumped as high as 6 ft. 4 in.

Cakers Doubtful

Coach Cardwell said that he was not sure whether the basketball players would be ready for the conference meet, Feb. 24 and 25. The cager's season ends the eve of the opening day of the meet with a game here against Washburn.

Baseball Loop Names Yelkin as President

Omaha University athletic director Virgil Yelkin was elected president of the Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri baseball league at its meeting in Kansas City over the semester break.

Yelkin is also head baseball coach at OU and is presently serving as National Chairman of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association's baseball committee.

OU Wrestlers Top Simpson

Russ Gorman's wrestlers broke even during semester break with a 29-5 win over Simpson College and a 17-16 loss to South Dakota state.

Those winning in the Simpson match were Bob Brown, Louie Miloni, Tom Folkers, Ron Anglim, Wayne Backes, Mel Masek and Arch Ferguson.

Coach Gorman said the South Dakota State match was very close and was not decided until the last.

Three Wins

The squad has won three lost two and tied one for the season.

The next match is with Northern Illinois on February 11 in the fieldhouse. They have had a fair season against tough competition and will be featuring Roy Conrad, the national champion in the 177 pound class.

Don Benning's reserve squad has compiled a two win one tie record for the season.

Dana Beaten

They have won against Dana 20-15 and Midland 22-14 and have tied Dana 18-18.

The reserve team leaders are Wayne Backes and Ron Anglim. They will be supplemented by second semester additions Ed Champion, John Chesire, Louie Butera and Leonard West, a former state champion from Central.

Coach Benning said "that he is well satisfied with the attitude and performance of the boys on the squad."

The Omaha University field house seating capacity is 3,600.

Indians Stop Losses With 82-81 Squeak Past Hastings

Since the last issue of this paper the Omaha University basketball squad snapped a 13-game loss string and then dropped three more games.

The Indians squeaked past Hastings College 82-81 January 21 at the field house.

Bruce Hunter dumped in the deciding bucket in the last minute of play. Wendell Wiksell collected 27 points for the Tribe.

Indian Hopes End

Central Intercollegiate Conference leader Emporia State promptly ended the Indian hopes of two wins in a row 77-54. Joe Neuberger with 16 and Marvin Bratka with 15 led the Indian attack.

Jerry Kamphius, who quit the Indians earlier in the season, again was missing.

St. Benedict's and Pittsburg saddened an Indian two game road swing through Kansas February 3 and 4.

Benedict's dropped the Tribe 77-64 while Pittsburg breezed past the Indians 75-66. The Gorillas had escaped with a one point victory over the Omahans earlier.

Fort Hays Here

The Tribe will entertain Fort Hays tonight and then travel to Sioux City to encounter Morningside Tuesday.

The Indians defeated Morningside 79-71 for their fourth win in the season finale last year.

Fort Hays holds one win over the Indians this year.

Five Added

Five new players have been added to the Indian roster this semester.

Ron Horacek, a transfer student and a papoose performer the first semester, is eligible for varsity duty.

The other four, Mal Freeman, Jim Jones, Bill Marshall and Sam Sims, entered school this semester and are eligible. They attended no college or university before enrolling here.

Sims, in the Luther Junior College-Papoose game Monday, hit 27 points. Marshall got 5.

Larry Dostal, a freshman who saw varsity action late in the first semester, is the only scholastic loss.

Cage Tourney Tops Activity

Basketball

The post-semester intramural basketball tournament started Monday and will continue until February 23. The top four teams from each league have been combined into one tourney.

It will be a single elimination tournament running through February 23.

The finals will be held as a preliminary to the varsity game against Washburn. The game will start at 6:15 p. m.

Zeke Moe Joes and Bootstrappers finished the regular season undefeated in League 1 and League 2, respectively.

Both teams had records of eight wins and no losses.

Zeke Moe Joes' closest competitor, Theta Chi, had a 6-2 record. Pi Kaps, P. E. Majors, and Sig Eps tied for third at 5-3. Bwanas finished a game behind the Bootstrappers in league two with a 7-1 record. The Flyers were third with 4-3.

Theta Chi became the interfraternity champions by defeating the Pi Kaps and Sig Eps in a play-off. The three teams were deadlocked at 3-1 at the end of the season.

DUAL FILTER

THE TAREYTON RING MARKS THE REAL THING!

Here's one filter cigarette that's really different!

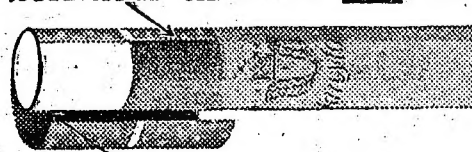

The difference is this: Tareyton's Dual Filter gives you a unique inner filter of ACTIVATED CHARCOAL, definitely proved to make the taste of a cigarette mild and smooth. It works together with a pure white outer filter—to balance the flavor elements in the smoke.

Tareyton delivers—and you enjoy—the best taste of the best tobaccos.
